Wix Editor

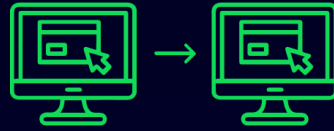

vs

Wix Studio

- ✓ The Wix standard editor allows you to implement the mobile and desktop versions of your website in one easy self-managment tool. See an example here
- ✓ Less complexity when implementing
- ✓ This is a tool with more years in the market
- ✓ Cheaper solutions for low-budget projects

- ✓ Wix Studio is the new Wix platform for larger-scale websites. It allows you to implement websites 100% responsive to any screen size, it also contains new animations and effects. See an example here.
- ✓ Increased complexity of implementation and maintenance
- ✓ New tool launched at the end of 2023.
- ✓ Advanced solutions for corporate-enterprise level projects.

Cornelius Christopher from Oneo (website)

www.oneo.love

"...His dedication to delivering a product that aligns perfectly with my vision was evident in every interaction. I'm so impressed with the results and the overall experience that I've decided to continue working with David and Yourweb.co.nz to manage my website moving forward. I have complete confidence that they will not only maintain the high standards they've set but also continue to find innovative ways to enhance my online presence..."

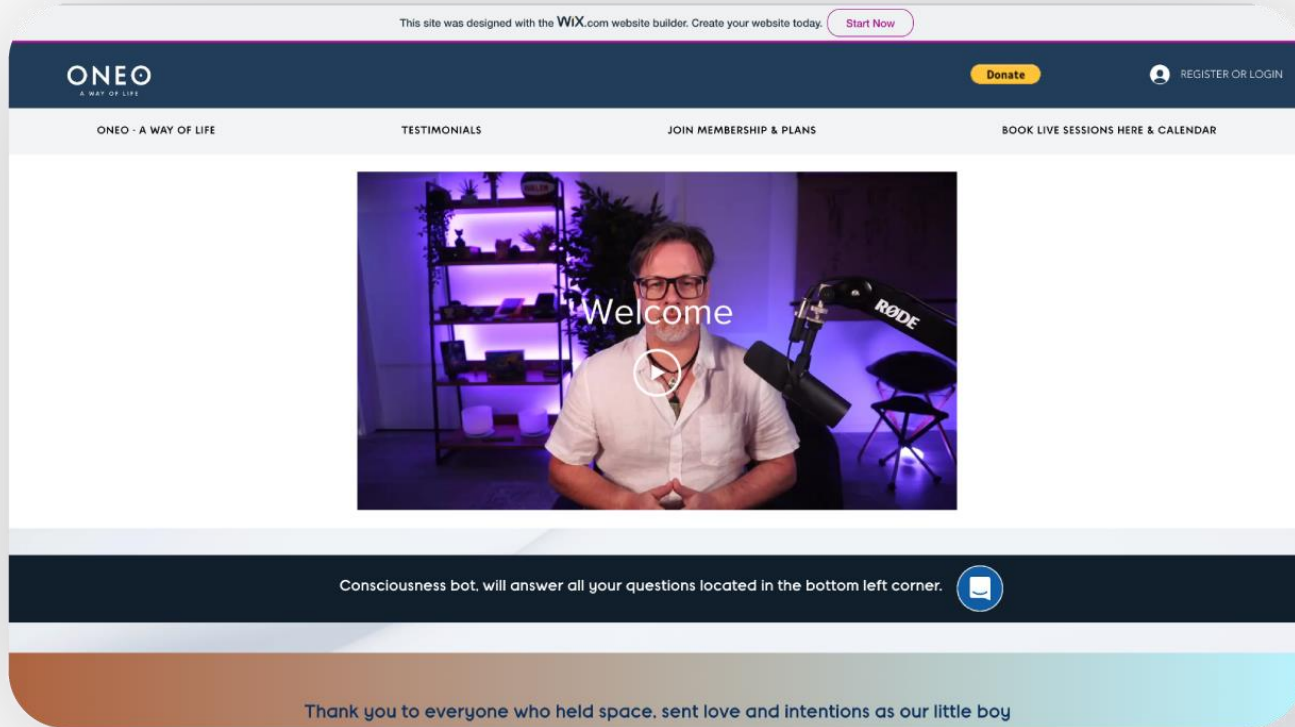

The problem:

Oneo is a company that offers a digital catalog of virtual classes. With a user base of over 3000 users, the challenge was optimizing the user experience on its website to facilitate class bookings. Oneo offers monthly pricing plans, each with a limited number of sessions per month. The old website design was complicated for users. The Wix Booking widget only showed the availability of services weekly, making it difficult to search and book available classes.

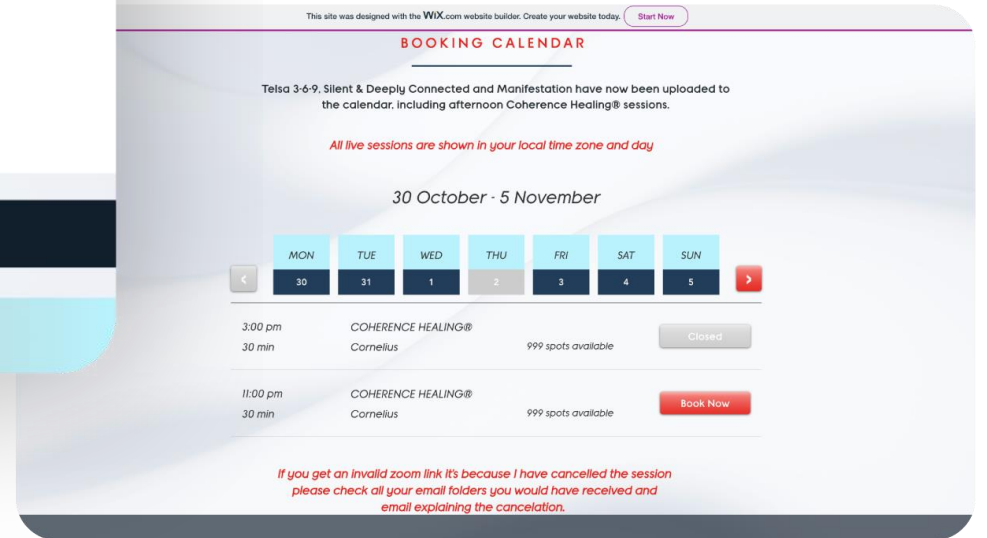

How we solved it:

We designed a view for virtual classes by month, making it easier for users to search for classes available. We also incorporated Oneo's view of available classes and pricing plans.

This was a challenge for us that we completed successfully and we were able to significantly improve the functionality and appearance of the website. By mixing our knowledge of different tools, we were able to present the information more clearly and efficiently, improving the user experience.
